The farmer cannot be too alert against he swindier. There are all kinds of the swindler. There are all kinds of schemes to catch the unwary. Qut in Colorado a couple of sleek fallows have been working a stock food swindle. They approach a farmer and ask him to be their agent and to take a ton. They send, or rather promise to send, a man to sell the first ton. The farmer unust sign an order for the first ton and also a note for $120. He is to sell the stock tood at ten dollars a hundred and keep $13.50 a hundred for his trouble. After the sheepers put the note that is the last 13.50 a hundred for his trouble. After the shysters got the note that is the last heard of them, nor does the farmer receive the stock food. The note eventually turns up at some bank and has to be paid under the law, for the third party is always such an innocent cass that he has to have his money, good or bad.

To those poor puffed-up parrots whe measure manhood by gold and morality by money; who think only the man with onsh is rich and only the man without coin is poor, the following is worth keep-ing in mind: "A man is poor when he has lost the confidence of his friends, has lost the confidence of his friends, when people who are hearest to him do not believe in him, when his character is honeycombed by daceit, punctured by dishonesty. He is poor when principle does not stand out clear and supreme in his ideal. When this is clouded he is in danger of the worst kind of poverty. To be in the poorhouse is not necessary to be poor. If you have maintained your integrity, if your character stands forth square to the world, if you have never bent the knee of principle to avarioe, you are not poor, though you may be compelled to beg for bread."—Ex.
